PLEASE ANSWER ALL THE FOLLOWING QUESTIONS
Please outline why the nominated individual/organisation should be considered for the award?	With a flair for global elegance, Ashish's career spans continents, blending diverse cultural elements into breathtaking, cohesive designs. His work captures an unparalleled versatility and creativity, establishing a reputation that resonates worldwide. Duke of Design's triumph at the prestigious International Property Awards is a dazzling testament to their design excellence and innovation. This accolade highlights their visionary approach, positioning them as true leaders in the industry. Their portfolio reads like a roll call of luxury: opulent residential projects, a bespoke private jet, boutique hotels, and high-end restaurants. Each project is a masterclass in tackling complex design challenges, resulting in spaces that are both stunningly beautiful and eminently functional. In the ever-evolving world of interior design, the philosophy of engaging all five senses is more than a trend—it's an essential revolution. Their "Five Senses Design Philosophy" transforms spaces from mere visual spectacles into immersive sensory experiences. Visual allure is just the beginning. Imagine stepping into a room where acoustics are meticulously engineered to create an auditory haven. The gentle murmur of a water feature, the subtle rustle of high-quality fabrics—every sound is curated to soothe and captivate, crafting an auditory landscape as beautiful as the visual one. Scent, that often-overlooked sense, plays a pivotal role in Duke of Design's ethos. Picture the calming aroma of lavender in a spa-like bathroom or the rich, inviting scent of leather in a sophisticated home office. Every fragrance is handpicked to complement and elevate the space. Touch is the heart of their tactile symphony. Imagine the cool, smooth embrace of marble countertops or the sumptuous caress of velvet wall panels and silk blend wallpaper. Gone are the days of fearing to touch walls with the fear of marking them. Every surface invites touch, adding a layer of sensory luxury that's as palpable as it is beautiful. And

	then there's taste, the pièce de résistance in their sensory repertoire. In their renowned restaurant projects, Duke of Design collaborates intimately with restaurateurs to craft menus that echo the interior's ambiance. Each dish is designed not just for flavor but to harmonize with the visual and sensory experience of the space, creating a dining adventure that tantalizes every sense. By engaging all five senses, Duke of Design doesn't just create interiors; they conjure environments that are profoundly immersive and deeply memorable. Their commitment to this holistic approach demonstrates a profound understanding of how spaces impact our well-being. It's not merely about crafting a look; it's about orchestrating an experience that touches every sense, making each project a multisensory masterpiece.
